1. 1 hour weekly Mindfulness Meditation Sessions

- These 1 hour sessions are designed for companies who are invested in long term wellbeing benefits for their employees. Regular weekly Mindfulness Meditations have been proven to help people feel more able to cope with the types of stresses we encounter in this day and age in healthier ways.
- Participants will be introduced to a range of Mindfulness and Compassion practices to help settle the mind and body. The classes bring more awareness to why we feel the way we do, why we say and do the things they do, and give reassurance that we are not inadequate and that the pressures we face in this digital day and age are extremely taxing for our human system. Mindfulness is a proven technique to help manage and alleviate the effects of stress and anxiety we face daily.
- The classes are experiential, which increases learning and retention of that learning. An important part of the motivation to learn is in the while building cohesiveness and collaboration in a team.
- In addition to this, participants will receive a link to the recording of the session, so they can incorporate the practises into their daily routines and support each other.

2. 45 Minute Mindful Movement/Mindful Walking Sessions

In the 2021/2022 UK Government HSE Report an estimated 17 million working days were lost due to work related stress, depression and anxiety. There is a worrying, growing trend of poor mental health related illnesses at work.

The times we live in are placing unmanageable pressures on our human system. The majority of people are living life from the neck up, in our heads, completely disconnected from our body. This is one of the reasons we not only struggle with stabilising our mental health, but we also become physically unwell and often chronically.

Mindful Movement and Mindful Walking helps us reconnect with our body. It helps us understand the language it uses to communicate it's needs to us. The most important relationship we will ever have in our lives is with ourselves. Most of us have a very conflictual relationship with ourselves, where we constantly put our body through punishing regimes at the gym, picking it up and throwing it about throughout the day, filling it with unhealthy foods. We are often totally unaware of how our thoughts are affecting the overall functioning of our system.

In these 45 Minute classes we begin the process of reconnecting and re-establishing a kinder more thoughtful awareness of our body. These sessions can be undertaken indoors or outdoors depending on location and weather conditions.

The classes include:

1. Slowing down our movements almost to a halt, so we begin to understand how the way we move affects our breathing, and responsiveness of our internal organs. We also start to recognise how the thoughts we have affect the increasing rate of our vital organs and the overall condition of our body.
2. We deepen our awareness of our habitual behaviours and tendencies, and how they contribute to our levels of stress. Regular Mindful Movement helps us gradually break unhealthy habits.
3. We learn the importance and function of our senses, and how to better care for ourselves by. Deepening our awareness of our body and the

4. way it experiences and responds to life helps us respond to our needs better.
5. Slowing down our movements in time with the natural flow of the breath not only helps to calm our nervous system it also helps the further settle and calm the thoughts in the mind.
6. We spend time as a group at the end of each session reflecting on what we experienced. This is a crucial part of deepening self-awareness, and becoming mindful as talking and sharing helps to build cohesion and integrate learning as a team.

3. 3 Stage Introductory Mindfulness Programme

This programme takes your workforce through a gradual Introduction to the Art of Mindfulness and how this can be built into our everyday lives. This 3 stage Mindfulness programme helps to deepen the learning and integration process of living and working Mindfully.

The programme is made up of three 1-hour workshops with the following content:

- An introduction to what Mindfulness is and why we practise it.
- What research indicates about the benefits of Mindfulness in the workplace.
- The Neuroscience behind Mindfulness and an understanding of why we say and do the things we do.
- Participants will be guided through 3 of the core techniques that start us on our Mindfulness journey. These include techniques for settling the mind. Why Kindness and letting go of judgement is so important to our wellbeing. We will also introduce Mindful Movement, which helps us gain a greater understanding of the relationship we have with our body and mind.

These issues may not seem that important, and they are not to the distracted mind. As you deepen your practice of Mindfulness you will quickly become aware of just how important, and urgent these qualities are for us to cultivate and nurture into our lives and the lives of others.

It also plants the seed of awareness of how distracted we are and how we can change this.

- Participants will then be guided through two grounding and settling mindfulness exercises to help them understand the importance of the language of the body and our senses.
- In addition to this will be an introduction to Kindness, which is key to the Mindfulness process.
- Mindful Movement will be the 3rd technique which introduces us to the importance of the connection between our body and mind and how this can help us reclaim trust and build inner strength.
- After each exercise there will be time for reflections and sharing on what was experienced during each practise. Sharing and reflection is an important part of cultivating a supportive and inclusive working environment. It also breaks down the barriers to shaming, mental health concerns and isolation.
- In addition to this, participants will receive a link to the recording of each session, so they can incorporate the practises into their daily routines and support each other.

4. Mindfulness Based Living Course 8-week Accredited Course.

In this fast-paced world of 24-hour news, digital, and social stimulation, our brain is processing beyond its natural capacity. It has never seemed more essential than it is today to practice mindfulness.

Due to our modern lifestyles, there is a disproportionate amount of people in the world suffering from stress, anxiety, depression, insomnia and other chronic health conditions and it's on the rise. People are desperately seeking some peace of mind.

Practising Mindfulness daily helps us find that peace through regulating the nervous system, lowering blood pressure, heart rate, build inner resources of resilience and confidence and find inner stillness.

Regular daily Mindfulness practice has been proven to reduce stress, anxiety, depression, chronic pain, PTSD, Obsessive Compulsive Disorders, improve sleep patterns and many other conditions that affect our ability to manage our day to day lives.

This is an 8-week Accredited Mindfulness Based Living Course by the Mindfulness Association in the UK delivered by Mia Middleton. It helps you understand the reasons why we do the things we do, how to address them, how to maintain your learning and progress. It furnishes you with a library of tools and techniques to assist you in your Mindfulness journey and also offers you an on-going life-long community of support to help you build on your mindful way of living.

How I will learn

The Course can be delivered in person on site or live online sessions using the Zoom application with the Tutor.

The duration of the class will be 2 hours once a week. Each 2-hour session will have a 15-minute comfort break halfway through.

These sessions are experiential, which means we are all active in our learning as a group, creating a more collaborative, supportive and motivated workforce.

You will be introduced to a range of tools and techniques including a journal to record and integrate your learning into daily life.

As well as weekly support and access to audio downloads you will also receive daily motivational texts from me to help maintain your practice.

There will be a full day of practice offered in between weeks 6 and 7. We will deepen our practices and iron out issues and difficulties that we naturally experience on our mindfulness journey. (This is part of the course. There is no extra charge).

In addition to this full package to assist in your Mindfulness development, you will be part of a growing movement creating the most incredible wave of change all over the world. You will also have the option of becoming a member of the Mindfulness Association, where you can access other avenues of Mindfulness practices.

After Care

At the end of the course, there is a review of the participants progress, which we organise a month after completion. The review will be 4 hours from 10am - 2pm.

5. Alternative Therapies for Physical, Mental & Emotional Pain.

The Dorn Method

The Dorn Method is a safe, gentle, and natural manual Complimentary Therapy used to corrected misalignments in the spine and joints. It is a remarkably simple technique without any clicking and crunching of the vertebrae or joints. It uses the natural dynamic movement of the body and is therefore very safe with no side effects.

It is a very recent and revolutionary method, originating in Germany about 40 years ago. It is based on the premise that imbalances in the body are caused by numerous health issues.

The Dorn Method is a combination of 3 parts that together realign the whole body bringing it into balance and releasing it from painful physical and emotional conditions. These parts include:

- Correcting leg length difference. Common problems such as lower back pain, shoulder, and neck pain can be caused by a difference in leg length. This is because imbalances of the hip cause the spine to twist forcing and uneven foundation and can pull vertebrae out of place. This adds extra strain and pressure on the whole body, therefore misalignments in all the joints and vertebrae of the spine are checked and corrected during a session.

- Spinal massage called the Breuss Massage for lengthening and nourishing the spine. This is also a very relaxing and energising technique to help gently stretch out the spine to assist spinal discs to align and regenerate.
- A set of Self-Help exercises are taught to the client so that they can practice them at home to maintain hip balance and keep the spine sitting straight.

This method can be used for all ages to correct back; neck; shoulder; elbow; hip; knee; sciatica and ankle pain in addition to headaches; migraine and a number of other physical and emotional issues.

Sound Therapy using Tuning Forks.

This therapy uses the power of sound through Tuning Forks to clear deep patterns of programming within our cells that often keep us locked in patterns of behaviour that do not serve us, whether this manifests in long-term physical pain or mental and emotional pain.

Our bodies are 2/3rds fluids which helps conduct sound. Our cells vibrate at certain frequencies and each organ has its own tone. When dis-eased they become discordant. Tuning forks help to clear the discordancy, bringing the body back into balance.

Tuning Fork Therapy is often used along with Head Neck and Shoulder Massage , the Breuss Massage, or after Realignment to support the releasing process.

It can also be used as a stand along practice, depending on the condition.

The 5 Awakenings Sequence using a range of Counselling techniques.

Helping people recover from the effects of loss, trauma and abuse. Using a combination of counselling skills, energy medicine, systemic and play therapy, sequences in this technique stimulate a response and creates a shift in the body's own energy defence system that enables recovery.

A Summary of each of the techniques are explained below:

Systemic Techniques

Systemic Therapy helps us address the ways we interact in our relationships. It recognises we are part of a system which includes our partner, family, workplace group, culture, education, and Government systems. It works on the premise that how we behave, the decisions we make, and our beliefs are constructs of these institutions.

Systemic Therapy is not about deconstructing the past but about understanding and addressing how we relate to each other in the present.

Person-Centred, Solution-Focused and Cognitive Behaviour Techniques

I use Person-Centred, Solution-Focused and Cognitive Behaviour techniques which are mainly talking therapies to empower people. By gaining deeper insight and exploring belief systems people can be supported to break patterns of self-destructive behaviour and improve their life chances.

Play therapy Techniques.

Play Therapy is traditionally used to uncover and deal with a variety of mental and emotional health issues especially with children, young people and adults.

Mia

The Therapist uses a variety of creative tools including drawing, storytelling techniques to help children, young peoples and adults understand and explore their thoughts and feelings in ways that feel safe for them to do. Often children and adults feel unsafe and cut off from their feelings and have truly little trust in others. Using creative play can help people access these harder to reach aspects of themselves when they are with a trusted adult.

Reiki

Reiki is an effective non-invasive energy healing modality, that helps to boost the body's own natural healing system to energise and promote wellness throughout the whole system of body and mind.

Rei -Ki stands for the life force energy of which everything in the known universe is made. It is what keeps us alive and helps to maintain a balanced healthy system. Reiki is channelled through the Master/Teacher practitioner to the client's energy system. The results depend on the needs of the client as Reiki finds its own way to the root cause of the issue, restoring balance on all levels.

In a session the client is usually laying down on a therapy bed or sitting on a chair although this is not always necessary as Reiki can be channelled with laying on of hands or at a distance.

The benefits of Reiki include:

- Helps the body release tension and stress through deep relaxation
- Dissolves energy blocks to bring about total system balance
- Assists the body to rid itself of toxins to support the immune system
- Helps to clear the mind and stabilise the body
- Aids in more restful sleep
- Aids the body in boosting it's own healing abilities
- Helps to relive pain
- Aids spiritual growth and emotional recovery
- Compliments other biomedical treatments and alternative therapies
